PROJECTS

MINI PROJECT (Predicting hourly boarding demand of bus passengers using imbalanced recordsfrom smart-cards Adeep learning approach.)

This project focuses on predicting the hourly boarding demand of bus passengers using smart-card transaction data, which is often highly imbalanced due to uneven travel patterns across different hours and locations. A deep learning–based predictive model is developed to accurately forecast passenger demand, helping public transport authorities improve route planning, scheduling, and resource allocation
